

1053301
1053401

Heckley's All Saints Church for a service of dedication on Britain's first Industrial Sunday. Birmingham's Lord Mayor is among the congregation. Around the church are exhibits of goods manufactured in the Birmingham area - fine examples of the high standard of Britain's industrial products. Appointed by the Church as a day for remembering the special needs of industry, Industrial Sunday - like harvest festival - asks God for a renewed blessing on the nation's labour.

Manchester, also, has a "thank you" day. Every man, woman and child of the cotton capital seems to be in Albert Square to cheer the eleven heroes of the hour....Cup winning Manchester United.

Lord Mayor Mary Kingsmill-Jones gives the players a civic reception.

Holding tightly on to the cup, skipper Carey makes way for the players (led by centre forward Jack Rowley) to acknowledge Manchester's thanks.