EUROPE ACCLAIMS WINNIE

The streets of Oslo overflow with friends of Britain. Every Union Jack in Norway flies beside the national flag. For a race which prides itself on being undemonstrative, Norwegians show their hearts for Winston Churchill.

The scene in Norway's capital is a repetition of the demonstration of affection given him the day before in Holland. Amsterdam was crowded with the men and women who see, in the man who gave them courage in the dark hours of defeat, a leader towards victorious Peace in a United Europe. From the platform, Father De Greeve voices their hopes.....

With hand upraised in the familiar sign which spells his name throughout the whole free world, he takes his leave of Holland to the strains of a new song - Europe Unite.
