MR. TABB MAKES A MINIATURE CYCLE

Kidderminster claims an original cycle maker. The first introduction to real austerity in the cycling world, a five and a half inch roadster, is made by Mr. Tabb. A blessing to those who live in prefabs, visitors no longer mistake the bike shed for the house. This bike eliminates the shed. It can be parked under the sink... and washed in it....for that matter. We're quite serious about this.. and so is Mr. Tabb, who, in spite of a little difficulty in the distribution of a generous pair of feet, proves that the bike is both rideable and roadworthy.

Ideal for the shopping housewife, it will turn on the proverbial sixpence left her by the greengrocer. For those with half a crown left over, Mr. Tabb has larger models. Sixty five, and several times a grandfather, he doesn't forget the family man's need -- a tandem.
