

2-P84501
48/65

SEA FLOODS OUT HOLIDAY MAKERS

2,000 holiday makers - flooded out by gale-whipped seas - evacuate Jaywick, well-known Essex seaside resort. Marooned in their bungalow homes, they make light of the tragedy of a broken holiday. But even the young ones hardly expected the delights of the beach on the way back to the station.

By hastily summoned cars, many whose holidays had lasted only twelve hours - head for home - still wet and shivering. In the flooded bungalow village, others prepare to fight it out against the elements. With the gale abating, they fill the breaches in the sea wall caused by the surging tide - Determined to enjoy their holiday at all costs, they've still faith in Britain's summer weather.