MARGARET VISITS CLYDESIDE

Apprentice shipwright Willie Davidson welcomes Princess Margaret Rose on her second visit to the Clyde this year. This time she is thoroughly at ease. Glasgow has made it very clear that she's a City favourite. The reason for her visit rides the stocks in Harland and Wolff's shipyard, the "British Mariner," latest addition to the British Ranker Company's fleet. Princess Margaret sends her down the slipway to the brown waters of the Clyde.

Even before the cheering dies, the keel of the next ship goes onto the stocks, for the world's crack shipwrights can find a job a day for a Princess!
