CHAZ CHASE TURNS VEGETARIAN

Paris - riddled by strikes and government crises - is a quiet city these days. But when a dietician comes to a capital famed for its food, things begin to happen. Chaz Chase - the vaudeville star - loves flowers. See what I mean? He can never get enough of them. Oh, well to each his own, flower for Chase, cake for the baker and chase me up a gumtree.

What's Chaz up to now? This takes the ticket. It's all right eating a restaurant's fare - but this? It's a good job the bus isn't around.

Well, what's new Mr. Chase? Anything of interest?

He doesn't like the News. But he does like the paper! He simply loves digesting the news, he's a lip reader.

Still hungry, Chaz? This is the place for you! They serve absolutely matchless meals here. No, wait a minute - I take that back. There's something wrong somewhere. But don't worry, he's been eating this for years.

Attaboy, Chaz - everybody must have at least one hot meal a day. Now be a good boy and finish every last bit of it.
