

ACHESON SUCCEEDS MARSHALL

America's New Secretary of State Dean Acheson (on the left) with his Deputy William Webb succeeds the retiring George Marshall. Acheson will continue the policy laid down by Mr. George Marshall his predecessor. The soldier-statesman (architect of the Marshall Plan) tells the reasons for his retirement.

SOUND