

MARINE MANEUVERS

Youngson Baruch

X Over Quantico, Virginia, troop-carrying helicopters are used for the first time in amphibious maneuvers as men of the Marine Corps come to earth. Like the leathernecks they carry, the cepters can land almost anywhere. Before a gallery of congressmen and officers, the devildogs spillout to storm key enemy fortifications within a beachhead. Air support rears overhead to open a full-scale battle with all the trimmings.

X With new equipment and old efficiency, the leathernecks relive a story familiar through the war. The Marines have landed. The situation is well in hand.
