

49/44

HOW SHE'S PRINCESS RITA

The small village of Vallauris near Cannes, suddenly comes into the news as guests pour in for the wedding of a Moslem Prince and a Hollywood actress. The Aga Khan, and the Begum (having approved the match) arrive at the Town Hall, where Miss Margherita Carmen Consino - rather better known as Rita Hayworth - is to be made one with the dashing young prince Aly Khan. Rita is wearing a gown of ice-blue crepe with matching tulle-trimmed hat - the Prince, that look all bridegrooms wear.

The ceremony (conducted by the Communist Mayor of Vallauris) is short and simple. So, the oldest Hollywood fairy-story comes true - former dancing girl weds Prince.

The honeymoon home is the modest little Chateau de l'Horison. Here, the newlyweds take a momentary farewell of the cameras. Yes, you can go home happy in the knowledge that they're really man and wife...