

YACHTING ON OULTON BROADS.

For the sportsmen who like it wet and windy - Norfolk lays on the incomparable thrills of yachting on the Broads. Sea-going yachtsmen give it the uncomplimentary title of "Ditch Crawling," but with a stiff breeze blowing on Oulton Broad, a record number of boats get away in the "Gull" Class Championship.

Acrobatics of a high order are the call on yachtsmen competing among Britain's crack crews. Changeable breezes bring out a display of manoeuvrability little short of miraculous to the average man, limited in boating experience to a ride round the bay.

The Broads' Bank Holiday Regattas focus attention on the danger threatening this watery playground of thousands. Failing prompt action, encroaching rushes will obliterate the Broads. A holiday beauty-spot we can ill afford to lose.
