MR. CHURCHILL AT GARDONE.

Just visible - Mr. Churchill in a bathing costume. The setting - Lake Garda, in Italy where, with Mrs. Churchill, the Conservative Leader is taking a month's holiday. Occupying a suite of rooms overlooking the widest and bluest of Italian lakes, Mr. Churchill plans to rest, paint and continue his War Memoirs. Only rare glimpses of him are snatched as he basks in the sunshine recouping his energies for the testing times ahead. Wearing his now familiar 10-gallon Stetson, Mr. Churchill bids photographers forget who he is and treat him as just another Briton - trying to get away from it all.
