

PRINCE PHILIP GOES BACK TO SEA.

The Royal Yacht Squadron - a pale reflection today of its Royal magnificence in the past - reopens the Yachting Season. Cowes Roads - white sails in the sunshine and a stiff breeze makes it a perfect day. The motor-yacht Fanny Rosa brings Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip to the Solent. An appropriate visit for the Prince who is to return to the Active List. In October, he joins the destroyer "Chequers" at Malta.

With the Prince among the spectators, and with Royal patronage restored, the big hope is that British yachting may soon regain its old pre-eminence.

Off Beaulieu, the Prince takes a turn at the helm of the Dragon class yacht, Blusottle, to give Princess Elizabeth her first trip in their own boat.

In his return to the sea, may good luck attend the fortunes of the sailor Prince.
