X The Venturi -- a revolutionary twin-hulled ship which neither rocks nor rolls in the roughest seas -- makes her debut at Miami Beach Florida. She's the result of twenty-eight years of experimentation by Gar Wood, retired speedboat king. When the Venturi gets up speed, air rushing under the deck which connects her twin hulls acts as a shock absorber and prevents rolling. Her unique design allows higher speeds and greater passenger capacity than do conventional hulls.

X Designer Wood puts through her paces a seagoing what-is-it that may prove to be the luxury liner of the day-after-tomorrow.
