

PRINCESS JOINS DUKE IN MALTA

Together again in Malta! The Princess and the Duke meet in the George Cross Island and pose for these special pictures in the grounds of the lovely Villa Guardamangia - Malta residence of Earl Mountbatten. In the distance, they can see H.M.S. Chequers - the destroyer to which Prince Philip has been assigned as "Wimpy the One" - the Navy's term for a First Lieutenant.

Although the Royal flight to Malta was delayed by fog, the Princess was able to spend a part of her wedding anniversary with her husband. It's the Princess' first real holiday since her honeymoon. Although Prince Philip is aboard his ship most of the day, the Royal couple are able to spend more time together than ever in Britain.
