

MONTY SAYS GOODBYE TO NEW YORK

Monty ends his American visit into which he crammed speeches, conferences and the Army-Navy football game.

MONTY "Now I am just on the Mauretania leaving for England. I must say that I've had a very pleasant time over here."

VOICE "Field Marshal, what did you think of the Army-Navy game?"

MONTY "Oh, it was wonderful, terrific, the cat's whiskers - the cat's whiskers."

VOICE "Did you see a drug store as you told us you were interested in doing?"

MONTY "I went to see a drug store and was interested in the things that are sold in a drug store. As far as I can see everything is sold in a drug store except drugs."
