

FILM WORLD'S ELECTION RIVALS THE OTHER ONE

Leicester Square is the setting for the mid-century Film Festival. "Daily Mail" sponsored, it launches the voting in that other election for filmland's winners of the year. Seventy seven British films are nominated as candidates. Seen in the foyer is Peggy Cummins - recent arrival from Hollywood. Also there is Leo Gern.

Among the British artists are Sonia Holme and Patrick Holt. The stars re-enact cameos from their successes. From "The Guinea Pig" come Richard Attenborough, the boy who wouldn't bow down to the founder - and his headmaster, Cecil Trouncer.
