

'GORGEOUS GAEL' SCORES - WITHOUT THE LACE!

It's that Jack Doyle again! Ex-guardman, ex-singer, ex-boxer, the fighting Irishman finds another axe to grind - this time as all-in wrestler. The only snag in this, his 'rassling' debut is that it finds him all-out at first. His opponent, 15-stone Butch from Estonia, is making the Irishman feel quite at home!

Freddie Mills is among the ringside fraternity who have packed Harringay to see this postscript to the recently-ended circus. With nobody taking it very seriously, it's all great fun! The 'Gorgeous Gael' from Dublin scores a hit - without even wearing lace on his pants.

The terrific climax is near! Weeks of rehearsal (the blarney boy calls it training) are paying off! Can the hero beat back the villain's challenge?

He's won! That well-advertised forearm punch has made mince-meat of the Estonian butcher. Next in focus - "the championship of the world!"
