ONE HUNDRED BOYS ADVENTURE BOAT.

For fifty boys off to Canada it's a big thrill when Field Marshal Sir Claude Auchinleck welcomes them. With fifty Canadian boys who are here to tour Britain, they start off in the best way to any boy's mind, with a slap-up lunch.

The boys come from all over the country. John Wright lives in Leicester; Roger Pope is a Londoner; and Liverpool claims Maxwell Wilson. For cake they have Parliament Buildings, Ottawa. And to each a medalion is presented on behalf of Mr. Garfield Weston who is financing the two tours.

Bob Waugh of Toronto and the Canadian boys speed the British boys on their way as they board the Empress of Scotland. Holiday-bound on the same ship is Shane Alexander, son of Canada's Governor-General; and there, too, to bring the city's good wishes is the Lord Mayor of Liverpool with Field Marshal Auchinleck, who is conducting the Dominion tour.

And there she sails, westward to adventure, as Britons have sailed for 500 years, 50 young men of the Old World eager to explore the new.
