

BOXING WITH A PUNCH

In Brussels Jean Sneyers, Belgian fly-weight champion is in training for his fight with Terry Allen, and he's not skipping any of it because former world-champion Terry Allen - here seen signing for the fight - is a tough customer. Still British and European champion, Terry lost his world title to Dado Marino in Honolulu. Sneyers is one step on the way to win it back.

In Berlin, Stonewall Jackson of America faces Peter Muller, German middleweight champion. Muller lets loose a panzer attack and the ring suddenly seems too crowded for Stonewall.

Well! What a welcome! After that you can't really expect Mr. Jackson to take any more interest in the proceedings!
