NEWS FLASHES

Claremore, Oklahoma

The 12th annual Will Rogers Day draws 15,000 visitors from all over America for the dedication of a statue presented by Amen Carter of the cowboy humorist and philosopher, who was killed in an air crash in Alaska with Wiley Post. The statue is unveiled by Mrs. James Rogers, daughter-in-law of the comedian who made the world think whilst it laughed ... the American everyone loved.

Glasgow

Jimmy Kenny sharpens up for his fight with Rennie Clayton at the Albert Hall, London. The Glasgow boy is a knock-out specialist and the British and Empire Featherweight titles are at stake. But it's not going to be easy.

Holder, Ronnie Clayton, has a special reason for winning.

How do you fancy your chances Ronnie?

"Well, I think we're pretty good - I'm in very good condition, which I must be if I hope to win this fight. If I do win, I make the Lonsdale belt my property."

Cairo, Illinois

American builders complete a new bridge alongside an old one, so as not to interrupt traffic. With the new bridge in commission demolition begins on the old span; and 10thousand tons of steel crashes into the river. How will they get it out of the River? Easy - it's all done with cameras! Engineering ingenuity triumphs again!
