The B.A.C.R. leave-ship "Empire Parkstone" docks at Harwich after crossing from the Hook. Among her usual home-coming passengers from Germany are two who are bang in the news - Mrs. Driver and her husband. The Russians then unexpectedly released her husband.

At London Airport another re-union looms ahead as Princess Elizabeth arrives to fly to Malta. Told by Sir John D'Albiae planes are grounded owing to fog, the Princess passes the hours playing Canasta. Then comes the 'all clear' and she leaves to board her plane, a Viking of the King's flight.

The Princess made a slow recovery after the birth of Princess Anna, and everyone wishes her bon voyage as her plane heads through the fog-bound for Malta's health-giving sunshine.
