J.P.'Well 11 weeks behind the iron -curtain is a unique experience I should say. How were you treated by the Russians.

DRI:'Very well indeed. They were very kind to me, very courteous.

J.P.'Do you speak Russian yourself?

DRI:'Hm! No I picked up quite a lot of the language from an English-Russian dictionary they supplied for me.

J.P.'You felt a bit lonely I should think at times?

DRI:'No,

J.P.'but in ... 'The aeroplane you landed in - what happened to that?

DRI:'That's as far as I know is still in the same position.

J.P.'I see.

DRI:'In the same place I crashed.

J.P.'Did your release come as a complete surprise?

DRI:'Oh, very, very.

J.P.'You had no idea at all?

DRI:'No idea at all - it just came right out of the blue.

J.P.'Why do you think they suddenly decided to let you go?

DRI:'I don't know - I don't know why I was being held or

J.P. but in....glad to be back anyway?. What about you Mrs.Driver?

C.U. Pan over to Mrs.Driver.

MRS.D:'This is the worst part of it I think (giggle) .

J.P:'Well, we're glad to see you. Tell me how did you feel when you heard your husband had been released?

MRS.D:'Well, I knew that I'd be seeing him in 10 minutes. I didn't know what to do first, you know.

J.P:'You were excited, were you?

MRS.D:'Yes, terribly excited.

J.P:'You didn't hear from him for 11 weeks, did you?

MRS.D:'No, it was as long as that, yes.

J.P:'Quite an ordeal?

MRS.D:'Yes.

J.P:'Well, Pathe News are glad to see you back and welcome and you'd better keep out of the Soviet Zone in future.

MRS.D:'Yes (giggle) I hope he will.

J.P:'Goodbye.

MR. & MRS.D: 'Goodbye.
