

UNITED IN KOREA

Men of Princess Pat's Canadian Light Infantry arrive to swell the forces lined up against new Red attacks; and Lieutenant-Colonel Stone leads his men to join the fighting men of many lands. These Siamese troops help to refute Communist prepaganda that United Nations action in Korea is Western imperialism against the people of Asia. In Suwon are troops France could ill spare from Indo-China. Nearby are men from the Philippines, like the Siamese, asiatics fighting aggression in Asia. Already battle-veterans, they were among the first troops to reach Korea. And here, too, we get first pictures of British tanks and tank crews, waiting to go into action again. Besides the Americans, men from 15 nations are in action and - including these New Zealanders - more are on the way. The free nations are fighting to remain free.
