SCOTLAND BEAT WALES

It's a record Murrayfield crowd and a record look to cheer Wales to victory over Scotland - but young Scotland's not a bit afraid, and makes an early raid. But it's Sespan-fach and Scots Wha hae as the teams take the field for the match of the season.

As Triple Crown holders, Wales (playing in the lighter of the two jerseys) are favourites. Scotland are young but they're putting plenty of dash into it and Wales are hard-pushed to keep them out.

Nearly half-time and it's still all Scotland. But there's a penalty there against Wales. Thompson takes the kick and it's over! Scotland lead three-nil at half-time. It's a shock for Wales: we ought to see fireworks in the second half.

But it's not going that way. Scotland are slamming into the Welshmen without any respect. Things aren't going right for Wales. Kinninmonth gets the ball and drop kicks for goal. And it's over! Scotland six, Wales nil. That started it! Now Scotland are right on top. Scott has the ball and jinks for the line. No! He's passed to Gordon and there goes Gordon to score the first try.

Inglis takes the kick ... and it's over!

Wales are way behind from now. And here's another attack. Elliott's dribbling for the line and there goes Gordon to touch down.

Inglis takes the kick ... and he's hit the post! Scotland fourteen, Wales still nil and only a few minutes to go.

A minute to 'no side' and this looks dangerous ... Dawson's over for another try for Scotland.

Thompson converts and it's all over - Scotland nineteen, Wales nil. A young Scottish side playing like men possessed caught a brilliant Welsh fifteen on an off-day, to make a match to remember.
