

BUCKINGHAM PALACE1951's FIRST INVESTITURE

Before the year's first investiture at which 320 men and women were honoured, the King privately presented posthumous awards. To Lt-Colonel and Mrs. Muir, the Victoria Cross bestowed on their son, Major Kenneth Muir in Korea, to Mr. and Mrs. Gillette, the George Cross awarded to their airman son Iver.

Flight-Sergeants Andrews and Turnbull received the Air Force Medal - which thrills little Christine Turnbull.

That's for flying over the North Pole, Warrant Officer Heeley told his son Dudley.

Chief of Army Nursing Services, Brigadier Anne Thomson, Dame of the Order of the British Empire and Royal Red Cross. The Lord Provost of Glasgow - here seen with his wife and son - is now Colonel Sir Victor Warren, Knight Bachelor and citizen of no mean city.
