

SPECIAL FOR GLASGOW

KEENAN V. O'SULLIVAN

It's Partick-born Peter Keenan (in the dark trunks) fighting Danny O'Sullivan for his Bantam-weight championship of Great Britain on the Thistle ground at Firhill; and here's Keenan taking the fight to the London boy with both fists working overtime.

Keenan trained with Roy Ankarah and as they come up for round two the Glasgow boy turns on the pressure. Danny's in trouble - and he's down! The London boy had a bit of a job to make the weight, so he's probably not at his best.

Keenan's right on top. That was a cracker of a left to the jaw; he follows up; a right and now a left-hand, - O'Sullivan's down again!

Round 6. O'Sullivan's fighting back; but he's not the man he was; wright's beating him. Keenan gets in a hard right to the jaw and Danny's down again! The Glasgow boy packs a hard punch and can go places when he knows a bit more about defence. Well, it doesn't look as though O'Sullivan will make it this time - no, he's counted out and Peter Keenan is the winner!

And here is the new champ, complete with the Lonsdale Belt.
