JEEP 'CHASING' IS NEW SPORT

It's way out West, pardner, but those ain't buffale, it's a stampede of wild jeeps. The drivers are peaceful citizens of Yakima, Washington, on weekdays but on Sunday they become a speed-mad posse out on the hunt. It's all done with official approval, because in a defence emergency they'll act as cross-country communication links.

If they keep this up there'll be a lot more ghost-riders in the sky.

If this is the new West, Go East, young man! You'll last longer!
