

51/48ALLEN BEATS VIC HERMAN

At Grenby Hall, former barrow-boy Terry Allen of London tackles Vic Herman for the British flyweight title and the Glasgow boy finds he's taken on a handful. They're slogging together, but Herman (he's the one with the star) is slower than usual, and the famous punch seems to be missing. Allen's keeping on the move all the time and pussling Herman. And ever comes a right hook that sends Herman off balance. Promoter Joe Jacobs has served up another top-notch, full of action.

They're mixing it nicely but it's Terry who's ahead on points. The former world champion is bang on his toes. It's all or nothing for Herman this round.

Allen's slipped.

Hallo, what's this? The gang's gone for the end of the fight and the timekeeper confirms. Allen is the winner and that's Ted Kid Lewis admiring his Lonsdale Belt.
