

MARVELS IN MINIATURE

Star of the "Model Engineer" Exhibition is a Churchill tank. Weighing two-hundredweight it obeys sixteen orders under radio control. Locomotives are very popular among model builders who in this show are all skilled craftsmen in their spare-time hobbies.

Petrol-powered racing-cars battling out a miniature Grand Prix are a great attraction to those who like to see action. A naval jet fighter is one of the finest models on exhibit.

For those whose interests lie in things nautical here's something - a ship that bursts into flames and slowly sinks beneath the waves. The only trouble is that if you ask daddy to 'do it again,' too often, he's liable to take rather a stern view of the whole business.
