

F.A. CUP 4th ROUNDTOTTENHAM v. NEWCASTLE

If you're not in, you're out, is the news at White Hart Lane as ten thousand find themselves turned away from the Newcastle-Tottenham Cup Tie. Inside, as Burgess and Harvey teas, it's clear the ground's going to play a big part. But Spurs supporters cheer hopefully though the home team don't like mud, and Tottenham (in white) kick off. It's the fourth game between the two teams this season and Tottenham who won both the White Hart Lane matches are slight favourites. Newcastle attacking ... their more direct play ought to pay dividends today. The ball goes to Foulkes but Burgess is there and he comes unstuck.

At the other end Spurs attack, and Burgess whips in a shot. Simpson jumps up and Medley collides with him. That shook Simpson; he clears - but he's fallen down, hurt. Medley also needs a bit of attention.

Now Newcastle. Foulkes passes forward. Robledo runs onto the ball, and beats Ditchburn with a beauty into the corner of the net.

At the other end, Duquesin hits the bar. That would have made it all square. There's a scramble. Nicholson gets the ball but his shot goes just past the post.

Now Newcastle again. Walker centres, Foulkes gets his head to it, but Ditchburn saves comfortably ... Newcastle are shaping much better in the heavy going. Milburn collects (bout time we mentioned Jackie) he side-feets to Walker and Newcastle begin to look dangerous. The right-winger centres ... Foulkes is there to beat Sturgess and push forward to Walker.

Nicholson's header goes astray ... Robledo collects, passes to Mitchell and the left-winger has scored to make it Newcastle two, Spurs nil at half-time.

Second half, Spurs pressing but Tommy Harner hits the post. The London club keep trying, but the Magpies defence hold firm. They can't get past Simpson. He's playing a grand game. Now Bailey has a chance but his first-timer goes high, wide and then some!

At the other end, Newcastle launch another attack. The cup-holders are out to make sure. Robledo gets a chance - and he's scored - which makes it Newcastle three, Spurs nil.

Spurs keep trying to the end, but with no more score, it's Newcastle to meet Swansea in the next round.
