

104240-2

52/17

RE-ARMAMENT RIOT IN BONN

In Bonn, outside the West German Parliament Building, an angry mob demonstrates against the German vote to join in the defence of Europe. Police use fire hoses to subdue the rioters. Meanwhile the Big Three reach agreement with Chancellor Adenauer on Germany's role in defence, and a new German Army under NATO may soon be a reality. These scenes of violence, some German authorities say, are Communist-inspired. The police wade in with truncheons swinging, and in the end order is restored ... and Germany will rearm.

in Bonn, Germany, ~~an angry mob demonstrates outside~~ <sup>outside</sup> the West German Parliament Building, protesting the German vote to join in the ~~NATO~~ <sup>an angry mob demonstrates against</sup> defense of Europe. <sup>41</sup> ~~Banners screaming "Down with Adenauer" and "Adenauer Means War" are flaunted,~~ <sup>Q</sup> and police use firehoses to subdue the rioters. Meanwhile the Big Three reach agreement with Chancellor Adenauer on Germany's role in defense, and a new German Army under NATO may soon be a reality. These scenes of violence, some German authorities say, are Communist-inspired. The police wade in with <sup>knives</sup> ~~nightsticks~~ swinging, and <sup>in the end</sup> ~~there'll be some headaches tomorrow.~~ But order is restored—and Germany will rearm.