

BRICKLAYING COMPETITION

Near Torquay, apprentices bricklayers meet in a competition to encourage other young men to choose bricklaying as their trade. The 30 competitors are building 15 test walls. Most important part of the work is keeping it true.

Mr. Nichols is chairman of the South Devon Area Joint Apprenticeship Committee which organised the competition. These are some of the houses on which many of the competitors worked in their normal jobs. With our huge housing programme, every new bricklayer is a big asset to Britain.
