

52/37SPECTACULAR U. S. TESTS

In Maryland, American Air Force 'planes are used to test high-explosive ammunition. Here goes a B-17.

The explosive shells shattered the fuselage. The test proves the ammo's efficiency and aids future aircraft construction.

Self-sealing fuel tanks are the next target to test with incendiary shells.

Up comes the fire wagon and they have their demonstration, too.

NEWS

Fain--Weist

In ~~At Aberdeen Proving Ground, Maryland, Air Force planes serve as~~ Massachusetts
~~guinea-pigs in a test of high-explosive ammunition. Twenty-millimeter~~ ~~shells will blast this B-17.~~
used to is How good a

Sc. 6

~~The explosive shells shattered the fuselage. The test proves the~~ ~~ammo's efficiency and aids future aircraft construction.~~ give plane designers billions of headaches!

Sc. 8

Self-sealing
~~These fuel tanks are the target in the second test,~~
~~into them will~~
~~be fired incendiary shells.~~
next 15' into them

Sc. 12

~~If comes the fire wagon and they have their demoralization~~
~~with ammunition like this, America's pilots will be well served when~~ ~~they go into battle.~~
too, so they can't be demoralized