

ENGLAND-ITALY DRAW

In Florence, England (in white) kick off against Italy before a crowd of 90,000 and interest focuses on Elliot on the wing as England swing into attack right away.

Here they come again. They are into their stride quickly ... a Pearson pass to Broadis ... he flicks past Moro and in four minutes England have scored!

Looks as though the unbeaten record is safe as half-time comes up with England leading one-nil. Resuming, Lofthouse gets an early chance and Moro only just managed to stop that one!

England again - but Giovannini breaks up the attack and clears. Now it's Italy on the attack. Amadei has it, he shoots and Merrick hasn't a chance. One all - and all Italy jumping for joy.

From now on the crowd takes a hand and things aren't too pleasant for our lads. There is a 'hands' appeal against Ramsey but the Austrian ref. says "No" in three languages and that's the end as far as the players are concerned, but the debate continues and tempers become heated. Now England fire in shot after shot but with no more success, and the match ends in a draw.
