

WHIPNADE COMES OF AGE

It's the 21st birthday of the world's most famous Zoo, so everyone's hoping there won't be any rain, dear! Sorry, but that was a piece of cake I couldn't miss! You wouldn't think anyone would want to look like a llama - except Harold Warrender! Which surprises even the llama. There are all kinds of animals about. This is a tame leopard, and here's a Robertson Hare!

Sita Devi and Baby Milini are great favourites. Sita is an expert but Milini's just learning how to pick up a living.

Whipnade shows animals in their natural state ... Don't worry! They're quite safe. They're watching the elephants feeding.

Zulu dancers make it seem more like Africa, and the drums make music for some famous visitors from London, the zoo chimps. Hot music, hot weather, it just drives a chap to drink!

Using four hands, Gampo believes in safety first, but here's one who's even more cautious - he makes sure there is something in the bottle!
