DOMINICAN COLLEGE CENTENARY

To Newbridge College Church comes Mr. De Valera to attend the centenary celebrations. The Taoiseach is accompanied by his A.D.C. Colonel Brennan.

Now comes President Sean O'Kelly, just beginning his second term as president. From Rome has come the Master-General of the Dominican Order, Most Reverend Dr. Suarez; from Trinidad the Archbishop of Port of Spain. And here is the Papal Nuncio, Most Reverend Dr. O'Hara. In its hundred years the College has become an important institution in Irish life. It has 180 boarders and 30 day pupils. More than 700 years old, the Dominican Order was founded to kill with truth what was born out of ignorance.
