

QUEEN MOTHER AT LAMBETH

In the grounds of Lambeth Palace, the Archbishop of Canterbury welcomes Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother.

Miss Jean Mackenzie, who presents the bouquet, is from Halifax, Nova Scotia. She exchanged places with a teacher of Halifax, England.

Teachers from all over the Commonwealth and some from America take part in this exchange scheme. It widens their knowledge and leads to the exchange of new and good ideas in education.

To most of them the Queen Mother can speak with authority of their own lands, for surely she is the most travelled of all our great queens.
