

KEEP ON ALWAYS!

A gun that keeps always bang on the target is Britain's new lead to the military world. It's automatically kept on target in spite of all swings and bumps. For a really convincing test, the "Centurion" spins on its axis, but the 20-pounder gun never goes off target. It's controlled by new stabilising equipment devised by Ministry of Supply experts and this is the first time any tank in the world has been so fitted. Over bumps it works just as well.

It would be impossible for any gunner to fire with accuracy over such ground without this equipment. This is a pretty tough test, as the tank bucks like a bronco, but just watch the shell bursts on the target.

If the counter-fire becomes too hot the tank can take evasive action like the cockatoo bird and continue to throw dust in the eyes of its enemy!
