

THE BOMBING OF PYONGYANG

These are the first films of the United Nations 24-hours air attack on Pyongyang, the Red capital in North Korea. Flak shoots up from a hundred gun positions below as B-29s approach their target, passing over territory already hit by fighter-bombers. It's part of a determined drive to prevent enemy build-ups during the truce talks.

Air units from five United Nations countries participated in this all-out blow at enemy installations above the Thirty-Eighth Parallel.
