

CHURCHILL'S GRANDSON CHRISTENED

From Westerham Church in Kent, Jeremy Bernard Soames is carried out in his mother's arms, under his grandfather's watchful eye, after his christening. Although Master Soames doesn't know it yet, it is from his godfather, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, that he gets his second name, Bernard.

A boy with a camera - the famous man with the big grin - and a snapshot that would take pride of place in any album. The baby's christening party is held at nearby Chartwell Farm, Mr. Churchill's country home. No need to tell you the host's in great form today.

Jeremy Bernard, the real star of the distinguished gathering, is wide awake as Monty calls for a toast to his health and future happiness.

I wonder what the Prime Minister's smiling about - could it be because it's Monty who's holding the baby?

DT/OS.

From Westerham Church in Kent, Jeremy Bernard Scames is carried out in his mother's arms under his grandfather's watchful eye, after his christening. Although Master Scames doesn't know it yet, it is from his godfather Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, that he gets his second name, Bernard.

UP

Sc. 6.

A boy with a camera - the famous man with the big grin - and a snapshot that would take pride of place in any album. The baby's christening party is held at nearby Chartwell Farm, Mr. Churchill's country home. No need to tell you the host's in great form today.

UP

Sc. 11.

Jeremy Bernard, the real star of the distinguished gathering, is nearly asleep as Monty calls for a toast to his health and future happiness - and, if he inherits any of the Churchill characteristics, Monty could well add to his success in service to his country.

UP

Sc. 16.

I wonder what the Prime Minister's smiling about - could it be because it's Monty who's holding the baby?