

3-308401
3-008401
3-000401

52/69

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

The liner "Media" brings the Archbishop of Canterbury and his wife into New York for a month's holiday. Worried by the possibility that the Americans might confuse him with the Red Dean, Dr. Fisher has taken printed pamphlets with him to prove that he's the Red Dean's boss.

New York

The young King Feisal of Iraq finds himself at a baseball game in America almost as soon as he's landed there. The battle today is between the Dodgers and the Giants. The teams split a double-header (whatever that may mean) and the young King, who says he knows little about baseball, is thoroughly impressed with the whole game, and gives his vote to the Dodgers.

Australia

After a triumphal journey across the Blue Mountains from Sydney, Marjorie Jackson, who won two gold medals for her country in the Olympic Games, returns to her home town, Lithgow. And what a welcome she receives! She's been cheered by people of all nations, but never like this!

In the centre of Lithgow Marjorie is carried shoulder-high through the crowds. For the shy, unassuming little typist who smashed world records in the women's 100 and 200 metres sprints, this is a great day.

-800+01
-803+01
-800+01

DT/OS.

The liner Media brings the Archbishop of Canterbury and his wife into New York for a month's holiday. Worried by the possibility that the Americans might confuse him with the Red Dean, Dr. Fisher has taken printed pamphlets with him to prove that he's only the Red Dean's boss.

UP

Iraq's young King Faisal finds himself at a baseball game in America almost as soon as he's landed there. The battle today is between the Dodgers and the Giants. The teams split a double-header (whatever that may mean) and the young King, who says he knows little about baseball, is thoroughly impressed with the whole game, and gives his vote to the Dodgers.

UP

After a triumphal journey across the Blue Mountains from Sydney, Marjorie Jackson, who won two gold medals for her country in the Olympic Games, returns to her home town, Lithgow. And what a welcome she receives! She's been cheered by people of all nations, but never like this!

UP

SC.6.

In the centre of Lithgow, four men carry Marjorie shoulder-high through the crowds. For the shy, unassuming little typist who smashed world records in the women's 100 and 200 metres sprints, this is a great day, greater even than when she won her medals - for she has come home.