

OXFORD XV BEAT TOKYO UNIVERSITY

Prince Chichibu, an Oxford man himself, greets the Oxford University touring team before their match in Tokyo with Keio University. Right from the start of the game, Oxford, in dark shirts, are on the attack. From a smooth three-quarter movement, the ball goes out to Brewer but he's bundled into touch.

Oxford have the ball again. Spence passes to Cooper who crosses the line for a touch-down, to the delight of the English crowd.

Oxford have it. Walker passes to Cooper who, from the twenty-five yard line dashes through to score again — At half-time, Oxford are 9 points, Keio 3.

A quick spot of refreshment and everyone's ready to start again. Three minutes later, following a line-out, the Oxford machine gets going once more.

Here's Brewer going through the Keio defences for a spectacular try!

Keio fight back. Oxford tackle hard, but the ball goes to Akatsu who just manages to get over the line for Keio's second try.

But Oxford keep their lead to the end, and here comes the try that makes the final score Oxford 28 points, Keio 6.
