

52/50V. C.'s PARADE

On London's Horse Guards Parade gather Britain's heroes - among them John Giffney V.C. Two others who won our most coveted medal are Arthur Cross and Spencer Dent. Brigadier Smyth V.C. inspects more than two hundred gallant service people - for this is the annual parade of the Distinguished Conduct Medal League, and most are proud holders of that honoured award. In the passage of time we often forget these heroes' names, but the little crimson and blue ribbon on their chests tells its own story of their great deeds of valour.
