

TIGER CUB

Beeta, a tigress, recently gave birth in Dublin Zoo to two cubs. But she wasn't a good mother, and one of the cubs died from her neglect. The other is doing just fine - thanks to the help of "Tuts", a four year old collie who's just had four little pups herself.

Terry Murphy, who works at the Dublin Zoo, has quite a handful - and if you can't tell cub from Pup, look for the one with the long claws! First reports on the cub's progress are good, and foster-mother "Tuts" is doing well too - Somebody's determined to be a big boy when he grows up!
