

52/96

CHILDREN'S SPRING-TIME FASHIONS

Maybe it's cold outside, but London's fashion designers are looking far ahead already - to Spring and Summer. And here's an idea of what the well-dressed kiddie will be wearing when the sun comes out again. But fashion isn't the prerogative of the fair sex. This is three-year-old Neil in a loose check shirt over denim trousers.

A sky young miss is Rosalind. She's modelling a nylon organza party dress with velvet sash - another Horrocks creation. Neil's back again, in a towelling and gingham beach suit this time. Two outfits for Coronation year - appropriately in red, white and blue. Come now Neil, where's your patriotism!

Diana, aged six, shows us a nylon dress with a mauve satin sash (just the job for a party). Here comes Rosalind again, with her eleven-year-old sister, Carol. Both are wearing bridesmaids dresses of nylon and organza in two shades of pink.

Look's like trouble's afoot - yes, it's Neil, that debonair young fellow of fashion again. Seems he's quite a devil with the ladies!