LIFEBOATS PLUS "OFFSPRING"

The latest thing from German boat-builders is a lifeboat - plus its baby offspring. Fitted with powerful engines, the little boat is ready to help out the parent ship in an emergency - even in the roughest of gales. The Masterboat is equipped with safety nets for rescue alongside wrecked vessels. The "Bremen," and other ships of its type, are designed for use in German lakes where the weather can be really stormy.

Here's how the baby boat takes the water. Trials of this new two-in-one craft have proved successful, and soon the lifeboat (plus her offspring) will be out on active service.
