

26/2/53

102125-4

Red Army Day in West Berlin

West Berlin was the unusual scene of Soviet celebrations, when units of the Red Army and delegations from the Soviet-occupied German Eastern Zone marched through the Brandenburger Gate to the Red Army Monument in the British Sector. In the background the ruins of the German Reichstag (Parliament). It was the 35th Red Army Day. Numerous delegations dedicated wreaths honouring Russian soldiers who fell during World War II.