

NEWS IN FLASHES

The liner "President Wilson" brings His Imperial Highness Prince Akahito to San Francisco. As the ship which brought him across the Pacific comes into dock, the heir to Japan's throne has his first taste of a typical American buffet lunch.

After a trans-American journey, the Prince will come to England to represent the Emperor at the Coronation.

Twenty-six Mau Mau suspects, each wearing an identification number board, are kept under guard before their trial for the recent Lari Massacre. 150 people were brutally done to death by the Mau Mau in one night and these men are believed to be the murderers. The Kenya Government has promised swift justice for any condemned.

In Virginia, Naval guns and projectiles are tested in secret for fragmentation and velocity. Road barriers are dropped and the signal to fire is given.

These tests are designed to improve the accuracy and effectiveness of American weapons. Now a supersonic rocket is tested on a specially constructed railway.