

10237201
53/49

QUEEN MOTHER LEAVES

The Queen and Prince Philip are at London Airport to bid farewell to the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret who are to journey to Rhodesia. A B.O.A.C. Comet jet airliner will speed them to Salisbury. Later, at Bulawayo, the Queen Mother will open an exhibition which commemorates the birth of Cecil Rhodes, the great colonial statesman.

The Queen Mother wears a light dress in grey and white silk. Princess Margaret has chosen a full-skirted light blue coat for the journey. The Queen leaves the tarmac as the time of departure nears.

A last wave from the Queen Mother to her daughter who stands high on the roof of a lounge, and the Comet sets out on the royal journey to Rhodesia.