The Queen leaves the paddock for the Steward's Cup is soon to start.

The field's in line - and they're off with six furlongs to go.

At the half-way mark, Deuce, with Sir Gordon Richards up, is just in the lead. Spring Day, Blue Butterfly and Palpitate are all there, but there's not much in it.

Up the final stretch, Spring Day, Palpitate and Blue Butterfly fight it out. But Palpitate manages to put his nose first over the line, only a head in front of Spring Day. Owned and trained by veteran Fred Armstrong, Palpitate is the first Steward's Cup favourite to win for 30 years.

NEW HIGH

Up, down, or stay where they are - skirts are today's biggest argument. Remember these? all the rage in 1927 - and if Christian Dior has his way, they'll soon be back. "Short - but very sweet" we thought them twenty six years ago. If they do return, here's roughly what to expect. Top flight fashion model Susan Hook gives Pathe News a pre-view of the new style. Now for some opinions about this fashion bombshell. Here's one from across the Atlantic;
